JON BOATS

Grumman Aerospace was one of the nation's top manufacturers supporting WWII efforts overseas, supplying the United States Air Force with several models of aluminum military aircraft.

1944

SATURDAY, MAY 27

1945

The very first aluminum canoe, a 13-footer, was produced at the Grumman aircraft plant in Bethpage, Long Island.

1952

Grumman Canoe's complete line of boat products and brands moves to Marathon, NY.

The 50,000+ sq. ft. production facility allowed the product line to expand to 10 double-end models in both standard & lightweight aluminum, shallow-draft whitewater canoes, & square-stern canoes appealing to anglers and hunters.

1972

Hollywood casts a Grumman canoe in the movie Deliverance with Burt Reynolds, furthering its recognition as a household name brand.

Grumman became the #1 supplier to summer camps during the 1970s.

1988

Grumman produced the largest aluminum boat in its history. Designed for the Great Lakes, it measured 22' 3".

1990

The Grumman boat and canoe division was sold to OMC of Illinois, who soon purchased the DuraNautic Boat Company's tooling and assets, moving them to the Marathon Plant.

DuraNautic

A licensing agreement was reached between Northrop Grumman and Marathon Boat Group. The name Grumman is once again back on the canoes where it belongs.

2000

ALTAIR

2019

Altair Investments Inc. acquired Marathon Boat Group. Altair has exciting plans to invest in and grow MBG with expanded product lines and develop new product platforms to address current consumer boating needs. MBG is an innovator, designer, manufacturer, and marketer of canoes, fishing boats, and pontoons under the Grumman, DuraNautic, and Vanderbilt brand names.

1996

A group of former Grumman managers & investors formed the Marathon Boat Group to purchase the canoe and boat operation from OMC and resume production of Marathon canoes, identical in every respect to the legendary Grummans.

>> A NEW GENERATION OF ENTHUSIASTS

2022

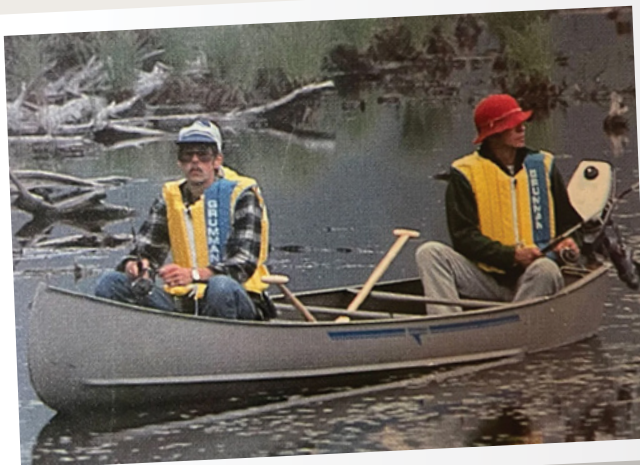

Building on our tradition of producing premium aluminum boats, Marathon launches the Vanderbilt Luxury Pontoon brand. Vanderbilt's stunning design, opulent amenities, and unmatched quality redefines how pontoons elevate lifestyles, empowering owners Live Distinctively™ on the water.

The Green Metal: Plastic & Water Don't Mix

Known as the "green metal," aluminum is one of the most environmentally friendly metals because of its sustainability. Aluminum can be recycled infinitely. Additionally, aluminum canoes last longer than their composite and plastic counterparts without shedding hazardous microplastics into the water system. These legendary canoes stay on the water and out of landfills! The aluminum manufacturing process is non-toxic and environmentally friendly. It avoids releasing harmful resins, toxic emissions, and noxious chemicals, making it safe for the environment, consumers, and employees.
